

RESUME WORK ON NEWHOUSE HOTEL

Sound of Hammer and Chug of Engines Will Soon Be Heard.

DIFFICULTIES OVERCOME

Arrangements Are Completed Financially and Otherwise to Complete Construction Work.

Work on the Newhouse hotel building will start again within the next few days, according to the announcement made by Samuel Newhouse last night, following a meeting of the board of directors held in his office in the Newhouse building yesterday afternoon.

For many months the gaunt steel framework of the structure has stood untouched, because of the inability to get the sort of material called for in the contract by the state, and because, too, of financial difficulties.

Ground was broken for this institution at about the same time the Hotel Utah was started. In the beginning, the work was carried on by a full force of workmen, but gradually the force was cut down and slower and slower became the progress made. Periods of weeks elapsed without a stroke of work being done, after which it would again be started and again discontinued.

Troubles Overcome. With the completion of the steel frame, work stopped altogether, and for half a year birds nested in the huge skeleton without fear of disturbance. Together with the announcement that it was impossible to procure the Bedford stone, which is called for in the specifications, and of which the Newhouse building and the Boston building, twin structures, are built, came rumors which have been persistent and partially affirmed, that financial difficulties had arisen.

The meeting of the board of directors was held in the Newhouse offices in the Newhouse building yesterday, and all of Salt Lake will rejoice to learn that the work is again to go forward, this time with all arrangements made financially and otherwise, to carry it to completion.

There are yet a few minor matters to be completed before this work can be taken up, but matters of finance and material have been arranged, and Mr. Newhouse and others of the directors declared last night that it will be but a very short while until the chugging of the donkey hoist will herald the beginning of the completion of this project.

FINE RACING PROGRAM AT FAIRS IS ASSURED

Western States Fair and Racing Circuit Is Formed With Horace Ensign as Secretary.

That a good card of races will be provided for the Utah state fair for the season of 1911, as well as the other fair associations in the western states, is assured in a telegram received yesterday by President J. G. McDonald, of the Utah State Fair association, from Horace Ensign.

Mr. Ensign is representing the Utah association at a meeting of fair representatives being held in St. Louis, Mo., for the purpose of organizing a Western State Fair and Racing circuit. Under this arrangement the fair dates in the different states will be arranged so as not to conflict with each other in the matter of races, which will give a good racing card to each of the fairs.

According to the telegram of Mr. Ensign the organization of the circuit has been effected and the officers elected for the coming year. Mr. Ensign has been elected secretary of the circuit.

GREEK GAMBLER FINED

Man Arrested by Deputies Pleads Guilty and Receives Sentence.

Gust Kolns, the Greek gambler who was arrested in a police car yesterday for conducting a gambling den at 528 West Second South street, and who made a sensational confession against members of the American party city detectives, has paid a fine of $40.

The hearing of Kolns took place at his home on West Second South street upon the request of the law firm of King & King, who informed justice of the Peace Stanley A. Hanks that he was confined to his bed. Justice of the Peace Hanks went to the home of Kolns and took his pleading from the sick bed. Kolns simply pleaded guilty and immediately paid the fine.

LEASE ON METROPOLITAN.

Edward Mulford, for fifteen years proprietor of the White House here, has taken a five-year lease on the Metropolitan hotel and will at once begin remodeling the hostelry. Thirty rooms will be added to its capacity and $10,000 expended in repairs.

Major Mulford is a veteran hotel proprietor of this city, having taken over the old Valley house in 1888, then one of the principal places in the city. Later he conducted the Morgan hotel, now the Colonial.

THE TWO SAID DOLLARS-A-DAY PARTY

DURING the five years the Tribune has been in control of the city government there has been wasted more than three millions of dollars of the people's money over and above the necessary expense of maintaining the city government and making the improvements which it points to so boastfully as its full justification for robbing the taxpayers.

During the five years of Tribune rule in this city, that party has increased the general city taxes 100 per cent, and the bonded indebtedness of the city 60 per cent, and has made the excuse that an increase of 37 per cent in population is responsible for it.

During the five years of Tribune rule, it has sold water to the people at a profit of 100 per cent, yet it had the colossal impudence last year to increase the rates 15 per cent and declare that it was necessary to do so to provide pure water.

During the five years of Tribune rule, it has collected $3,297,648.65 in general city taxes, which is $1,532,937.57 more than was ever collected in a similar period of the city's history.

During the five years of Tribune rule, it has increased the indebtedness of the city to $5,049,212.08, which is $1,337,406.69 more than it was when that party took charge of the city government in January, 1906.

During the five years of Tribune rule, it has collected 18.5 mills of general city tax in excess of what was ever collected before in five years of the city's history.

During the five years of Tribune rule, it has collected $1,000 more each day in city taxes than did any of the preceding administrations, and it has placed $800 each day on the general indebtedness of the city.

During the five years of Tribune rule, it has exceeded its budget several hundred thousand dollars each year, and each year it has added to the already large amount in outstanding warrants.

During the five years of Tribune rule, it has taken in much of the money paid in by abutting property owners for city improvements, has spent the money for other purposes, and has issued scrip to the contractors upon which the taxpayers have to pay interest.

Do you enjoy it, Mr. Taxpayer?

PLUNGE HEADLONG FROM FIFTH FLOOR

Two Workmen Fall Distance of Forty-Five Feet and One May Die.

BACK PROBABLY BROKEN

Men Alight in Mass of Fresh Concrete and One Escapes With Scalp Wound.

Falling through an overweighted panel on the fifth floor of the new Crane Plumbing Supply company warehouse, at Second West and Second South streets, which is being built by the Gillis Construction company, Grover Coyne and J. C. Bowers, employed as carpenters, shot through 45 feet of space shortly before 6 o'clock last night, landing in a heap on the second floor, where they were nearly buried in fresh cement and debris.

Coyne was so seriously injured that it is feared he will die. At Judge Mercey hospital last night the man suffered frequent hemorrhages from internal injuries. His back is believed to have been broken. Bowers was more fortunate. In some manner the cement broke his fall and when he recovered consciousness his only injury consisted of a scalp wound which had a dozen stitches closed.

Makes Statement. Concerning the accident Archibald J. Gillis, president of the Gillis Construction company, for which the injured men worked, gave out the following statement after a thorough investigation last night:

"The injured workmen were filling in a panel on the fifth floor. They had overloaded this panel with fresh cement and other articles. It suddenly gave way under the intense weight and Coyne and Bowers were pitched down to the second floor. Coyne is a cement finisher who recently came to Salt Lake from San Francisco. He has made the Adrian hotel his home.

Buried in Cement. The police were notified immediately after the accident. Sergeant J. J. Roberts and Motorcycle Patrolman W. H. Hendrickson responded. When they arrived the injured men were being drawn from the heap of cement and debris so thoroughly plastered that it was more than fifteen minutes before they could be identified. The construction company summoned its own surgeons and while Bowers was treated at the warehouse and the injured man taken home, his unfortunate companion was taken to Judge Mercey hospital in an ambulance.

Coyne and Bowers have worked together in the construction of the big warehouse, which is almost entirely built of cement. Coyne is an expert cement man while Bowers handled the rough work. They had proven themselves unusually efficient at their jobs. Gillis, president of the construction company, says that the accident has taken two of his best men from him.

SALT LAKE WINS AT NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW

Out of Ten Diplomas Awarded in Chicago, Local Firms Capture Four of Them.

Out of ten diplomas awarded at the National Dairy show in Chicago, four were captured by Salt Lake, according to a letter received yesterday from Walter J. Frazier, city food and dairy commissioner, who is in attendance at the show.

Mr. Frazier writes that Dr. Evans of the Chicago board of health, inspired by the excellent showing of the Utah dairymen, has advised the state officers in attendance at the show who are trying to secure the passage of state laws and city ordinances on the milk question, to confer with Mr. Frazier to find out how the supply is handled in Salt Lake and other parts of Utah.

The Utah samples, scoring over 90 points, that received diplomas at the show, were as follows: D. M. Gies (Clover Farm dairy), 92.75; Clover Leaf dairy, 91.70; W. C. Winder, 90.25; John Beck (Berlin dairy), 89.25; J. J. Cannon (at Park City), 88.5; J. J. Cannon (at Park City), 88.5; Dahl Bros. (Gorgosa, 24th), 87.25; C. L. Miller, 85.5; Soren Dahl, 84.25; Ben R. Eldredge, 82.25.

ALEXANDER IS FREED.

Will Alexander, alias Ike Thompson, was exonerated in police court yesterday morning of a charge of forging the name of Preston Nutter to a check for $40 and attempting to have the same cashed at the McCormick bank. October 18 Alexander was defended by Attorney William Newton, who contended that there was no evidence on which Alexander might be convicted. R. Connelly, assistant cashier of the bank, furnished testimony concerning the manner in which the check was presented for payment, in which he admitted that no money had been paid.

High School Girls Yell and Advertise Big Game

GRILS, American girls, girls with red blood in their veins, girls with the irrepressible spirit of youth, whose motto is "Always Be Dignified Unless It Spoils the Fun," dozens of them marched through the downtown streets at the noon hour today, and between school yells announced the fact that this was the driest season in thirty years for the state of Wyoming.

"But I emphasize the fact that the most successful dry farming can not be done by the old-fashioned methods and fast rules set down by scientific men, for no rules can be made to meet all conditions. To meet with the greatest success the farmer must study the local conditions and make a systematic study of his farm, for different conditions are bound to exist in different localities, for which the scientific men of the country can lay down no set rules."

"Though there have been failure the country these have been due mostly to the adoption of haphazard methods, in the planting and cultivation, but despite the fact that this was the driest season in thirty years for the state of Wyoming, those who have followed scientific principles have met with success in their crops. This has given the dry farmers of the state added enthusiasm for, they say, if this can be done under the abnormal conditions, what cannot be done under ordinary conditions."

If the near-truants expected a carpet session with the principal upon their return to school their fun was cut short, for that personage appeared in the hour between the morning and afternoon sessions, and Professor Eaton declared that so long as their department on the street was beyond reproach they had committed no grievous error, and would not be censured by him.

So sang the girls under the leadership of a stately Gibsonesque creature, whose tresses had the appearance of having been done up with an eggbeater, but in which the sunshine found an affinity. Marching backward, this dainty captain kept her company in line and saw to it that they kept step. And if the girls wavered at masculine heads, which popped out of windows along the avenue of marching, well, what of it, so long as the way was accompanied by the announcement of today's contest of gridiron gladiators?

This fall regiment, when it departed from the high school, consisted of many, but there were those who pictured the wrath of "Crazy" Eaton and turned their faces schoolward before they had gone far. To be sure, there were the staid old boys who marched from the high school a few days ago and were suspended for the act, but the girls chose the "open season" for their personage appeared in the hour between the morning and afternoon sessions, and Professor Eaton declared that so long as their department on the street was beyond reproach they had committed no grievous error, and would not be censured by him.

PHYSICAL CULTURE AT GYMNASIUM

Demonstration of Women's Work to Be Given at Latter-Day Saints University.

At the Deseret gymnasium on Thursday night, November 3, there will be a demonstration of women's work given by pupils of classes already organized. Since the opening of the building the girls of Latter-day Saints university, and many women from the outside, have been receiving valuable instruction in physical exercise, and an attempt will be made on Thursday night to interest the public generally by an exhibition of their work. This will necessarily be elementary, as the classes have been organized only a short time, and but few of the members have had previous training.

The gymnasium is open to women and girls every morning except Saturday until noon, every Monday evening and for one period on Thursday afternoon. Three hundred members are already enrolled, and the number is constantly increasing. It is expected that an additional class will be organized Monday night, with fifty members.

The gymnasium, running track and swimming pool are for the use of women as well as men, and some apparatus especially for their use has been installed. Miss Anna Nebeker, formerly of the University of Utah, has charge of the women's department, assisted by Miss Hazel Edwards, Miss Mary Johnson and Miss Margaret Caldwell. Mrs. David McDonald is instructor in swimming for the girls.

Invitations to the demonstration on Thursday evening are extended to women generally, and to all girls over 12 years of age. The following program has been arranged for the occasion:

Grand march and general gymnastics; clubs, folk dances, Swedish gymnastics, games, wand drill, artistic dances, trip through building to view work in the private exercise rooms, handball court, bowling alleys and swimming pool.

ADVICE GIVEN ON DRY FARMING

How Thousands of Acres Have Been Reclaimed in South-eastern Wyoming.

SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES

Dr. V. D. Cook Says Those Who Have Observed Them Have Had Successful Crops.

That thousands of acres of arid land, in the southeastern part of the state of Wyoming, has been reclaimed by the adoption of scientific methods of dry farming during the past few years, is the statement of Dr. V. D. Cook, of Cheyenne, in charge of the state's experiments in dry farming, who stopped off in Salt Lake yesterday on his way home from the Dry Farming congress at Spokane.

"When I first went there a few years ago," he says, "the land of the state was nothing but a barren waste, without a house or home for many miles. During the past few years the people have taken up dry farming and that stretch is now transformed into a fine farming district and has been rapidly settled."

Haphazard Methods. "Though there have been failure the country these have been due mostly to the adoption of haphazard methods, in the planting and cultivation, but despite the fact that this was the driest season in thirty years for the state of Wyoming, those who have followed scientific principles have met with success in their crops. This has given the dry farmers of the state added enthusiasm for, they say, if this can be done under the abnormal conditions, what cannot be done under ordinary conditions."

WANT FUNDSEER NATIONAL GUARD

Present Quarters Inadequate and Efforts Are Being Made to Secure Improvements.

As a result of a meeting of officers of the National Guard companies in Salt Lake, Major W. G. Williams has announced a series of inspections or reviews every two months, starting in January, and has instructed company commanders to arrange for company inspections every month or more often. The change is done for the purpose of increasing the interest in the National Guard among the members, and to increase the efficiency and appearance of the troops which make up the state militia.

One of the features of guard life this winter will be a review of the Salt Lake, and perhaps the Ogden state troops, by the state general. This is being arranged by Major Williams chiefly for the purpose of inducing the legislators to appropriate funds for the maintenance of the guard in the state. The present armory is not fitted for athletic purposes, and funds are given as the answer. There are many things needed about the present quarters of the several companies, it is pointed out, and these will be shown to the state lawmakers when they get together in their biennial meetings in January.

Improvements Needed. After the return of the Utah troops from encampments it has been the history of the several companies, under the companies, and commanding officers have had trouble in keeping the men together for the winter. The winter, it is pointed out, and these will be shown to the state lawmakers when they get together in their biennial meetings in January.
